Project Description	As a response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the SPRING Forward Pilot Program will provide housing navigation services to facilitate access to housing and housing supportive services to stabilize returning residents and mitigate the risk of recidivism for residents released from CCJ and IDOC to the City of Chicago. The pilot is designed to provide a “unit-based” subsidy supported by an agreement between the Respondent and an approved property owner (“Landlord”), willing to make the unit available to eligible tenants. The SPRING Forward Housing Navigation Pilot Program will support the following: security deposit payments, 12-month rental subsidy payments, Minimum Habitability Standards inspection (MHS), a furniture bank allowance, housing navigator wages, and program supplies.

	The goal of the Mental Health Equity Initiative is to improve mental healthcare in Chicago in recognition that in the past,

Project Description	many Chicagoans most in need have not been able to access quality mental health services when and where they needed them. It will ensure a coordinated, comprehensive system of mental healthcare that provides access to high-quality, trauma-informed services for the populations and communities most in need. Specifically, the ARP funds will be used to strengthen mental health care citywide through trauma-informed centers of care, mobile team-based care, specialized services such as early-childhood mental health and mental health services for children with developmental disabilities, and residential or intensive outpatient treatment for persons with cooccurring mental health and substance use disorders.

Project Description	Community Wealth Building (CWB) is an approach to economic development that promotes the local, democratic, and shared ownership and control of community assets. CWB exclusively focuses on shared-equity models, giving historically disinvested communities more accessible and sustainable pathways to building wealth by sharing in the purchase and ownership of businesses, housing, and land. Examples of CWB models include worker cooperatives, limited-equity housing cooperatives, community land trusts, and community investment vehicles in commercial real estate. The project has two major components: (1) Ecosystem Development Program – providing multi-year contracts with technical assistance organizations to provide free, highly specialized services (e.g. legal, financial, business development, community education) to CWB models; and (2) Large Scale Pilot Projects – development grants or loans to approximately 2-3 large scale CWB projects on the South and West Sides.

Project Description	This program is in response to the negative impact of the pandemic, which disproportionately impacted people experiencing homelessness, who are both more likely to live in congregate settings where risk of transmission is higher and are more likely to have underlying health conditions that put them at increased risk of severe disease. Due to the pandemic, many shelters (especially those in congregate settings) were forced to operate at partial capacity in 2020 through part of 2022. DFSS will identify an agency to provide and operate a low- barrier shelter that meets the essential elements of a low barrier model – as determined by national best practices and successfully operating programs. The agency will provide for basic needs (e.g., meals, kitchen access, showers), engage in diversion efforts, provide connection to housing options, and case management services. The proposed project will need to operate 24/7 and commit to policies and procedures that meet a lower barrier threshold for entrance and shelter than typical shelter sites (e.g., storage units for possessions, facilities for pets).

During the pandemic, as many as 223,000 Chicago families didn't have internet at home, and more than 128,500 didn't have a computer, laptop, or smartphone. Project Description	Nonprofit Relief and Capacity Building aims to provide financial and technical assistance to stabilize and build the capacity of community-based organizations serving low-to-moderate income communities. Nonprofit organizations were negatively impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic, and many have yet to fully recover. To address the harm caused by the pandemic, BACP has designed the Expanding Nonprofit Organizational Capacity Cohort program to provide grants and highly customizable training to eligible nonprofits through phases. Phase 1 provided technical assistance in the form of workshops, webinars, and 1:1 individual coaching session to nonprofits interested in contracting with the City of Chicago. Phase 2 will provide financial and technical assistance to stabilize and build the capacity of community-based organizations serving low-to-moderate income communities. This program hopes to build upon existing nonprofit assets and strengthen organizations where they have gaps in their systems, structures, skills, and resources. The goal is not necessarily to grow these nonprofits in size and scale, but rather to invest significant resources into them to prepare and position them to deepen their impact in community and sustain themselves as a part of their neighborhood and sector infrastructure.

Project Description	The CSCC is a multi-agency coordination center that utilizes the lessons learned from the City’s coordinated response to the COVID-19 pandemic. As the pandemic swept through the country in early 2020, a significant increase in crime plagued the City of Chicago. Longstanding structural inequities meant that low-income and working-class Chicagoans were more vulnerable both to the disease and to the impact of disease mitigation strategies (e.g., economic fallout of the shutdown) As a result, Chicago saw dramatic increases in homicides and after near historic lows in in years leading up to the pandemic in 2020. The CSCC's objectives are: (1) To ensure violence prevention and reduction is community-led with support from City staff and resources, which are identified by the community; (2) To create new collaboration opportunities amongst City staff, community organizations, and others with existing roles in the violence prevention and reduction space and (3) To create the systems for data collection, analysis, and mapping needed to ensure a data-driven approach to violence prevention and reduction. Funding will be used for CCSC operational support, marketing for violence prevention and reduction, expansion of resources for violence intervention programming, and support for community safety initiatives. CSCC’s efforts will be measured in number of coordination efforts led by CSCC and Chicago residents who engage with these programs.
