Subject: RE: Travel to NYC for work

The purpose: This trip was at the suggestion of Deputy Mayor John O'Malley as a follow up to a peer share between CPD and NYPD. I attended a series of in-depth meetings including Gun Violence Strategies Partnership which brings federal, state, county and city stakeholders together to address gun violence. This level of coordination has been unprecedented in the country (fun fact: President Biden and AG Garland visited recently and were impressed). I am going to help with identifying the right stakeholders in Chicago and standing up a similar program. I also attended meetings regarding NYPD's gun tracing dashboard and the NYPD's SMART team (social media analysis and research team). The goal here again is to learn from them to set up similar dashboards and units here. I attended these meetings in my official capacity as a representative of City of Chicago.

Where: NYC
